Summer Work 2018

Write a reasoned argument which starts, as follows:

“If I am able to vote in the next General Election, I currently expect that I will vote for the candidate of the X Party, because..... ”

There are a wide range of areas to explore in justifying your choice:

- the issues that are most important to you
- the policies currently being offered up by the parties
- your opinion of the current party leaders and senior figures
- consider negative as well as positive reasons. Maybe you would vote to try to stop a less preferred candidate from winning.

Try to use evidence, quotes and statistics from a range of sources. It is quite acceptable to use the thoughts from family members or friends, if their views are an influence on your opinion.

I would expect your report to be between one and two sides long (if typed). Be prepared to hand it in for review at the first lesson in September.
